JUNIOR PROM

VOLUME FIFTY THREE

will be the center of attraction for Grayling and the surrounding region Everything is set for a successful party that will maintain the reputation which has been built up in past years for this event, the social highlight of the school year.

This year's Junior Class has shown a spirit that has already carried their dramatic effort over in fine style. Their presentation of "Second Story Peggy" was a real triumph. This same spirit has been directed upon the party and the results will be in evidence tomorrow night. It remains but for Grayling to crown their efforts with that success which they deserve by patronizing the Prom. Those who attend will be repaid by an evening of real entertainment.

The gymnasium has been the scene of plenty of good hard work to make a fitting setting for the party. The laws and regulations. STATE AFFAIRS (By A. H. Gansser)

End of Session Tasks.

Away last February a senator in Tomorrow night the Junior Prom troduced a resolution, fixing May 1st as the tentative limit to the 1931 session of Michigan legislature. But on that day the same senator introduced several new bills, which he still hopes to pass before final adjournment. Back in February some legislators also resolved to introduce only the most necessary new pro posals. But the House has already put over 600 new bills into the legis lative hopper, and the senate passed the two hundred mark. And the end is not yet. It is passing strange that Michigan appeared, to get along fairly well in 1930 with existing laws. Then a new legislature is assembled. And every new governor tells every new session that economy must be the watchword That state expenses must be cu down. That no new state departmen or institutions dare be created. That

ORS SCHOOL SUCCESS SPELL LIFE SUCCESS? (Don R. Leech, Superintendent of Schools, Albion, Nebraska). Too often, the value of scholastic and even by some schoolmen. The press, too, sometimes scoffs at the value of high grades and scholastic standards. A Nebraska merchant de clared that superior work in high school is not a promise of superior performance later. A southern Cali-fornia high-school principal, address-ing a graduating class said this: "In my opinion, in ten years from now the tail-enders of our school's gradnating class are going to be the leaders as lawyers and doctors and business men"-and the building rocked with spplause. This fast developing sentiment determined me to establish its truth or fallacy in a scientific way. Three years ago, when superintend ent of schools in a district with a population of 1,500, I found fairly complete records covering a period of 40 years. This town is typical of communities of its size in the Mississippi valley. It sprang into being in the "seventies" and has had the usual years of growth and depression. Its main occupation is agriculture; there are no larger manufac-turing plants or labor groups. Its population is made up of well-to-do farmers and business men with the usual quota of poor and down-and-

My study included 146 men, all of whom had been out of high school at least five years. This group was divided into three sections, based on scholarship as follows: Below 80 per cent, between 80 and 89 per cent, and 90 per cent and above. Forty-eight of the total number ranked below 80 per cent, 69 ranked average in scholarship, and 29 ranked high. The 146 men are now scattered over the ontire United States.

First, the 146 men were classed according to their financial rating. were classed poor if they had less than $5,000, as well-to-do if they had between $5,000 and $25,000, and wealthy when they had accumulated more than $25,000. The problem was to discover what relationship if any casted, between scholarship in high s hool, and financial success in later

The tables compiled showed facts t'at were astonishing indeed. Of the low scholarship group 27 per cent or about one fourth, ranked as well-to-do, as compared to 48 per cent of the average scholarship group, and 65 per cent of the high scholarship group. This means that the chances for the man of low scholarship to a cumulate as much as $5,000 were only one in four; or, while one of this group was able to succeed reasonably well, three of the sam group failed. In the average scholar ship group, one succeeded financially to this same degree to one who failed; while for the high-scholarship group two succeeded, while only one failed. These figures indicate that the chances for success are largely on the side of scholarship. Also it was of interest to find what kinds of occupations had been chosen by the various groups. Of this group's graduates about one-third of each group has entered the field of business, indicating that low marks themselves do not prevent one's enhigh scholarship. The professions, such as medicine, law, and teaching, attract largely from the high-scholar as compared with 17 per cent of the average, and 21 per cent of the lowone-fifth of the low and average groups entered these professions in entirely against them.

The town was full of fishermen or the opening day and evening. On Saturday the weather changed to rain and colder and there were at times snow flurries in the air and it was no day to be puddling around in a swift-flowing trout stream.

Sunday the weather moderated again, much to the pleasure of those desiring to pursue the elusive trout And it wasn't just the fellows with expensive fishing outfits that got the big ones. Some youngsters fishing with homemade rods caught some fine large trout right off the bridge in Grayling. A 19-inch rainbow trout was caught by a young son of Lloyd Gierke, Friday evening, and other youngsters have been getting some nice catches.

On the whole fishing seems to be even better than last year. The old main stream of AuSable is full of trout, and anyone knowing how to fish trout may be assured of a good catch almost any time. Also those fishing the North Branch report good catches. The South Branch is still with high water and is too deep for wading at this time, however, there are plenty of big ones there.

Crawford county has filed a claim against the Woods estate for court costs incurred in the trial in circuit court here in July, 1929. The costs amounted to over $1,000 and this being a civil action—there-is no reason why the county shouldn't be re-imbursed. The county was represented by the prosecuting attorney and the Woods estate by Attorney Brown of Detroit.

John W. Cowell left last night for Boston and Haverhill, Mass., and New York City in the interest of his business, marbleizing and the establishment of factories for the manufacture of finished products. He said it was uncertain just how long he would be away, that depending upon whether or not he would be required to supcrintend the construction work of the industrial plants. For a number of cars Mr. Cowell has been conducting the Cowell Institute for the instruction of marbleizing, stone enam eling and other operations in which he has been very successful. He has had many imitators in the business but he has been away ahead of the procession and it is hard for other to follow. Constant research by Mr. Cowell has developed many improvements in this line of business.

FUNDS FOR HOMES SUPPLIED BY BANKS

By ROME C. STEPHENSON

President American Bankers Association A LARGE portion of the funds re-A quired in home building always has been furnished by banks. They never permitted its co-operative attitude toward home building to lessen. Practically all banks now accept savings deposits which can well be turned to the advantage of the home builders. The construction of individual dwellings requires a large amount of financing and is a thoroughly commendable enterprise. Necessarily, the aid given to home builders is governed by the sound banking rules which have grown out of the years of experience and the constant studies of bank practices.

All of the efforts made to secure broader real estate loan privileges, to adjust resources to make it possible to lend larger sums for long terms, the standardization of mortgage loan formulas, and the actual lending of vast desire of banks to contribute a full neasure of support to the home-building movement. This is true of all classes of banks, but even in a more marked degree of those whose deposits are largely in the form of savings and phose loans are primarily for building or home purchasing purposes.

Both Sides Protected The process through which bank loans are made on real estate is as simple as the nature of such an important transaction will permit. When money is advanced the lender must know that repayment will be made the specified time. Likewise the borrower wants to be assured that, after he has figured the loan on the basis of his conservatively anticipated ability to pay, he will not be required to do more, that he will not be disturbed in his efforts to work out of his obligations under those terms. Whether his agreement is to repay the entire loan in three or five years, or on a monthly or yearly basis, he wants the assurance that no additional burdens will be imposed upon him. All of this is settled definitely in advance.

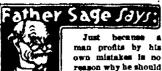

There is no mystery about any of the details, and when the negotiations are complete the borrower knows just what he may expect and what he will be required to do to meet his obligations.

Loans made to persons who wish to acquire homes are not necessarily building loans. One may wish to purchase a home already constructed. In this form of transaction bank loans are used very freely because it is the only kind of a real estate loan some classes of banks may make. Others of course. may lend upon real estate with im provements uncompleted and advance funds as the construction progresses. Different styles in home financing have developed in the various states, and banks have tried to adapt their facilities to the needs. Whatever character of assistance is required in any particular instance usually can be found in some bank in the local community.

Among banks and horrowers for home acquisition purposes a long established and thoroughly tested relation ship exists. Banks are not the only agencies through which such funds are available: they do not embody all the spirit of helpfulness which abounds, However, through the years of their operation their aid has been of un questioned value to the home builders whose efforts to establish a nermanence encouragement. Bankers everywhere are ready to counsel with their customers about their home building plans and to assist to the extent of their ability This is being done constantly and the many advantages of it are not without

Farm Service by a Bank

A farm service department was inaugurated a year ago by a bank in Olympia, Washington, and a farm advisor appointed. Close cooperation has been maintained with the state college extension service. Work in dairying is carried on in conjunction with the Dairy Herd Improvement Association. Also a pasture contest was held in cooperation with the four banks in the county which offered banks in the county which offered prizes amounting to $100. Work in poultry was carried on in coopera-tion with the Co-operative Poultry Association and assistance was Association and assistance was given in organizing an economic conference for the benefit of berry growers. The farm advisor of the bank is active in the Agricultural Council of the county composed of farm and other organizations interested in agricultural davalopment, and also in the Farmers' Market. Six hundred farm business analysis blanks were distributed while farm account books and poultry record books were also propoultry record books were also pro-vided to farmers and have been helpful in starting many farmers in keeping business records.

GARDEN HINTS HOW TO CULTIVATE AND WATER

Two Important Factors In Garden Success

Surface cultivation can be done effectively with a garden hoe or rake. The object is twofold, first the preparation of a fine surface mulch which prevents loss of water and aids in the circulation of air; second the uproof ing and killing of grass and weeds that are ever competing with the cultivated plants for water, food and light.

Sprinkling should be done thoroughly when done and always in the evening. Wet the soil four or five inches deep and then allow it to dry out fairly well before watering again. Many good gardeners prefer to irrigate the garden plot by removing the nozzle from the hose and permitting the water to run between the rows for an hour or two.

Just sprinkling the top layer of soil does no good-in fact it does great harm by stimulating the development of feeding roots in the top layers of soil where there is great danger of their being burned during hot and dry periods. It thus prevents the growth of a deep root system that enables the plant to withstand prolonged dry weather. (Courtesy "True Temper" Gar-

FORD BRAKES ARE UNUSUALLY EFFECTIVE

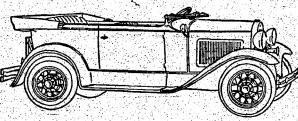

Reliability and safety due to simple design and careful construction

ONE OF the first things you will notice when you drive the Ford is the quick, effective action of its four-wheel brakes.

They are unusually safe and reliable because they are mechanical, internal expanding, with all braking surfaces fully enclosed. This prevents mud, water, sand, etc., from getting between the band and drum and interfering with brake action.

Other outstanding features of the Ford are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, torque-tube drive, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, Rustless Steel, reliability, economy, and long life.

You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

SPEARING, NOXIOUS FISH

The spring drive of the Conservation Department against noxious fish has started. Practically every hour that conservation officers are not required on other duties, are spent in supervising noxious fish remováli Spearing parties led by William Hodgson, conservation officer of Lapeer, on four successive nights took 143 doglish and eight garpike from Lake Nepessing, Lancer County. A party conducted by Harry Plotts, Allegan, reported taking 87 dogfish from Silver Lake, Allegan County; and four spearing parties supervised by Charles F. Merrifield, conservation officer, Grand Rapids, caught 81 dogfish in Reeds Lake.

Similar reports are being received by the Fish Division of the Conservation officers in other parts of the Complete instructions as to the best time to take the various species of noxious fish and as to the various methods of organizing spearing par ties are contained in letters sent by the Department to all of its regular officers. Regular conservation officers may organize spearing parties to take noxious fish at any time of the year but every effort is made to take as many of the fish as possible each spring before they spawn.

According to the Institute for Fish cries Research, noxious fish, in com mon with other species, exhibit a peculiar reaction to water temperature as their spawning season proaches. Dogfish spawn in tempera tures of from 61 to 70 degrees, gen crally occurring in April and May. The long-billed garfish spawn in temperatures of from 66 to 70 de-grees, or in May and June. The short-billed garfish spawn in still higher temperatures, or from 76 to 78 degrees. Carp spawn during April May or June.

Dogfish and garfish, the instruc tions say, like to bask at the surface in warm quiet waters at all seasons of the year and may easily be spear ed when conditions are favorable. All spearing of noxious fish mus be done under the direct supervision

ABOR'S LIBERTY Legion, as it is termed by Matthew vice president eration of Labor, is in action for the purpose of bringing about dification Volstead act and eventually the repeal of the Eighteenth sists of a national committee of the organized trades, and it held a two day convention in philadelphia that was attended by about 200 delegates from all parts of the country. Mr. Woll was in the chair, and he did not mince words in stating the aims of those workers who are opposed to prohibition, and at times his language was almost in-flammatory. He declared the groups which "forced" prohibition on the country were the industrialists "who were prompted by the desire to increase their profits through higher production by making machines of hu-man labor," and the church groups "who have admitted their failure to rule man by moral sunsion, but seek to force their rule by the use of the big stick of the law."

Asserting that he did not believe in "milk and water methods," Mr. Woll continued. "There is too much law and order today. I want to see the shackles of injunction broken; if not by lawful methods, then through physical resentment. It is only by aggressiveness that states and communitles will regain their privileges.

"Our nation came into being through a violent disregard of law and order. The negro was freed by bloody strife, in complete desregard of law and order. Labor unions came into being and won for American labor its high standards of living, through strikes, lockouts and other violent methods."

A report to the committee, written by Woll and L. M. Osborn, president of the cigar makers' international union, held out the hope that the le-galization of light wines and beer might be enacted by the next congress. It stated that only 17 members of the senate and 45 representatives were prohibition "die hards" and that some of them were "listed among the most valued customers of Washington's well known bootleggers."

The charges, it will be remembered, were filed by Dr. John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise on behalf of the city affairs committee, and alleged malfeasance and misfeasance on the part of the mayor, whose removal was asked. Walker's reply was hot and vituperative, branding his accusers as "Socialists," though in later public statements he asserted the Communists were to blame for the light on him. The governor in dismissing the charges said he did not find in the documents submitted sufficient justi-fication to remove the mayor or to proceed further in the matter. There was no evidence, he added, that showed Walker had falled to act on information given to him or that he had failed to keep himself advised as to the activities of the subordinates beneath him. The city affairs committee promptly announced that the fight on Mayor Walker and on civic corruption would not be abandoned. .
